L'INSTITUT DES VINS DE CALIFORNIE

L'Institut des vins de Californie est la voix de l'industrie californienne du vin, représentant plus de 1 000 wineries et membres affiliés dispersés dans les différentes régions de l'état.

L'Institut des vins de Californie est l'unique association professionnelle représentant l'industrie vinicole auprès des instances gouvernementales de l'état, du gouvernement fédéral et au niveau international. Le conseil d'administration, les officiers et le personnel de l'Institut consacrent leurs efforts à créer un environnement où la communauté vinicole peut se développer et contribuer de façon positive aussi bien au niveau de l'État qu'au niveau national et local.

Basé à San Francisco, l'Institut possède aussi des bureaux à Sacramento, Washington, DC et six régions des États-Unis qui chapeautent le travail de consultants répartis dans quarante-cinq états et sept pays étrangers. Quarante-vingt producteurs californiens agissent à titre de conseillers pour l'Institut en tant que membres et alternants du conseil d'administration.

Le bureau canadien coordonne annuellement plusieurs événements promotionnels qui permettent d'informer les médias, les professionnels et les consommateurs sur la qualité et la diversité du terroir et des vins californiens.

Le Festival des vins de Californie, qui célèbre ses 38 ans d'histoire en 2017 est l'événement phare des activités canadiennes de l'Institut. Tous les ans, le Festival fait sa tournée des grandes villes du Canada afin de faire déguster aux consommateurs et aux professionnels les plus récents millésimes et les nouveautés. Cette activité permet aussi à l'Institut de s'associer à des organismes de bienfaisance locaux en leur donnant une occasion agréable de recueillir des fonds.
